

Rock n Roll Bingo

It Really Rocks!

Rock and Roll Bingo could entice a whole new generation into the pubs and the joys of bingo. If you have never heard of Rock and Roll Bingo it is very simple. Instead of a book of numbers you have a card containing 15 different songs and their singers, anything from Frank Sinatra and My Way to Lady GaGa Born this Way and everything in between. Instead of a bingo caller you will hear a piece of pop music. When you hear a song that is on your card, you mark it off. If you are the first to complete a line of songs or to cross off all the songs on your card, you win. Also we have the option of the crowds singing the songs instead to get the card marked add some fun games into the card liking dancing around the table and doing a party piece you have a great night's entertainment!!

Get Ready To play Rock and Roll Bingo

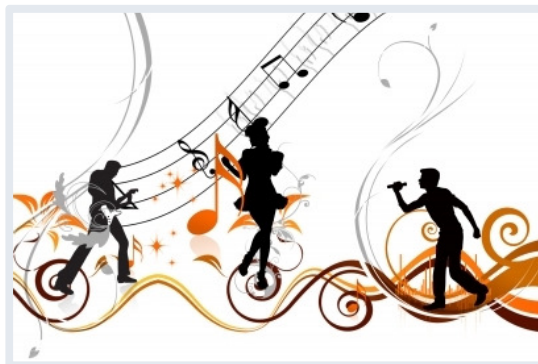

The first game starts off relatively quietly until the crowd starts to recognize the snatches of songs being played and singing along for a few seconds.

The compere asks who is getting close and a number of people shout up saying what they are waiting for. If someone calls for a win and they have got a song wrong there are good natured "boos" all round, but also plentiful cheers when someone does win.

The second game of the night is a different story and lots more people don't feel quite so embarrassed about taking part after they have seen it is actually fun to play. By the fourth game the place is rocking big time.
